

"Yield curve stable as dreary sentiment extends"

The secondary market yield curve remained broadly unchanged during the day, with investors adopting a cautious stance amidst uncertainties surrounding external debt restructuring talks and the ongoing holiday season, which limited market participation. Despite subdued trading activity, there were some transactions observed in liquid maturities during today's session. Accordingly, 01.08.2026 registered trades at 11.15% whilst 15.12.2026 hovered between 11.35%-11.30%. Further, 15.12.2028 traded at 12.10%. Meanwhile, CBSL expects to raise LKR 78.0Bn from tomorrow's T-Bill auction. Overnight Liquidity closed at LKR 138.3Bn and CBSL Holdings remained stagnant at LKR 2,675.6Bn. On the external side, LKR depreciated against the greenback after consecutive sessions of gains, closing at LKR 298.9.
